Epistulae Morales ad Lucilium - Wikipedia
The Epistulae Morales ad Lucilium (Latin for "Moral Letters to Lucilius"), also known as the Moral Epistles and Letters from a Stoic, is a collection of 124 letters that Seneca the Younger wrote at the end of his life, during his retirement, after he had worked for the Emperor Nero for more than ten years. They are addressed to Lucilius Junior, the then procurator of Sicily, who ...

Hitchens's razor - Wikipedia
Hitchens's razor is an epistemological razor (a general rule for rejecting certain knowledge claims) expressed by and named after journalist, author, and public speaker Christopher Hitchens (1949–2011). Hitchens has phrased the razor in writing as "What can be asserted without evidence can also be dismissed without evidence." It implies that the burden of proof ...
